Rev. Foudy To Speak At Baccalaureate Service

The spirit of graduation is developing at a steady pace as seniors go into the last half of activities week and approach the June 3 Baccalaureate services.

The services are scheduled to be held in Spartan Stadium at 4 p.m.

Many of the parents and friends of graduating seniors will be on hand to watch the seniors go through the services.

Speaker for the occasion is Rev. John T. Foudy, Ph.D., assistant Superintendent of Catholic schools in San Francisco.

Rev. Foudy's subject is, "With Thy Whole Heart, With Thy Whole Soul, and With Thy Whole Mind."

A native of San Francisco, Father Foudy received his Ph.D. in education from the Catholic University of America, Washington, D.C., and for the past ten years has served in his present position as assistant superintendent. He is also active in educational work at the Dominican College, San Rafael, and is moderator of parent teacher groups of San Francisco Catholic schools.

Invocation and benediction will be offered by the Rev. J. Wesley Farr, minister of the First Methodist church, San Jose, after which Dr. Wahlquist will introduce Father Foudy.

Following the Baccalaureate services, 1116 candidates will receive their degrees at the Commencement exercises June 8, which is the largest graduating class in the history of the college.

Dr. John T. Wahlquist, president of the San Jose State College, will confer 59 B.S. degrees, 974 A.B. degrees, 10 B.E. degrees, 71 N.A. degrees, and two M.S. degrees.

Speaker for the Commencement exercises is James Mussatti, general manager of the California State Chamber of Commerce.

The college symphonic band, conducted by Dr. Robert W. Fieser, assistant professor of music, will play for both baccalaureate and commencement exercises, and the A Cappella choir, directed by William J. Erlendson, professor of music, will be heard at the baccalaureate service.

SJS Housing Office Plans Workshop

Plans for the Housemothers Workshop, scheduled for June 11-14, are progressing, according to Mrs. Ietta Pritchard, college housing supervisor.

"We expect to have a very interesting four-day session with some very good people giving talks. The workshop is something new and should be helpful from the standpoint of students, housemothers and the college," Mrs. Pritchard said.

The workshop will be held daily from 9 a.m. until noon and will close with a luncheon on the last day. The sessions are being planned for housemothers other than those running sorority houses. The women may register with Mrs. Pritchard.

Representatives from the college and the city will speak on housing regulations, health laws, civil defense, the preparation of foods, menu planning, social amenities, recreation, and relations between the housemothers and the college.

Christian Group To Plan Activities

Collegiate Christian Fellowship, a non-sectarian campus group, will plan for the coming school year today and tomorrow, Sharon Lighty, publicity chairman, announced today.

The officers will decide the purposes of next year's CCF and how they may be accomplished.

All officers should plan to attend recreation and planning at Santa Cruz tomorrow, according to Miss Lighty.

Three SJS Students Receive Literary Honors

Three SJS students, James Leigh, Edith May Alcock and Robert Williams, recently received nation-wide recognition when the literary magazine, New Campus Writing, announced that works of the three had been accepted for inclusion in the next issue of the annual magazine, according to Dr. John J. Gross, assistant professor of English.

A story and at least one poem of Leigh's has been accepted. He was editor of this year's Reed magazine, and winner of the 1956 Phelan contest. Poems by Williams and Miss Alcock also will be published in the magazine.

Student Y Elects Officers

New Student Y officers for the fall term are: Melvin Stroud, president; Marilyn Shaffer, vice president; Donna Wolford, recording secretary; Sally Boyer, corresponding secretary; and Lee Crider, treasurer. The Rev. Mr. James Martin, executive director of the "Y," announced today.

Rally Executive Meeting

The executive council of the Rally Committee will hold its final meeting today at 2:30 p.m. in the Student Union.

The committee's publicity chairman will be chosen and plans for next semester will be outlined, according to Rally Committee chairman, Gary Waller.

Students Sell Blood For CRC Drive

Seven students have sold blood to raise funds for the World University Service under the College Religious Council's Blood Drive, Shirley Hayden, chairman, announced today.

The CRC is an inter-faith campus administrative group. The World University Service helps college students all over the world in any way possible, such as providing medical care and housing, according to Miss Hayden.

Donating their blood for the fund at $15 a pint were Pat Bergerson, Lee Crider, Doug Gary, Ray Hanson, Wyn Nimmo, Carolyn Smith, and Tom Taylor.

The group donated their blood Friday, leaving the Student Y for Irwin Memorial Blood Bank in San Francisco at 2:30 p.m. CRC will sponsor another drive next fall.

Wineroth Replaces Atkinson as Head Of Spartan Shop

The Spartan Book Store yesterday had a change of managers, as Harry Wineroth, formerly of Cal Poly in San Luis Obispo, replaced Roland Atkinson, who has held the position for 11 years.

Wineroth, graduate manager of Cal Poly since 1951, decided to accept the SJS position because of family ties in the Bay Area.

Atkinson has reached retirement age, but will remain as an employee of the bookstore in a non-managerial position.

Wineroth was born in San Francisco. He was an athlete at Cal Poly, and president of the student body from 1938 to 1939. He lettered for three years in both basketball and football. According to Wineroth, he was on the football team that defeated SJS in the late 30's. At Cal Poly he was referred to as "Uncle" Harry.

"It (leaving Cal Poly) was a tremendous decision to make," declared Wineroth. "After all, I have made many friends at Poly and regret leaving them—however both my wife's parents and my parents live in the San Jose locality. We've always liked this area of the state and this gives us a chance to live here."

Wineroth is married and has three boys.

Library Open Tomorrow

The Library will remain open on Memorial Day, according to Miss Joyce Backus, SJS librarian. The only change from regular week-day hours is that the Reserve Book Room will open at 8 a.m. instead of 7:30 a.m.

Chinese Pair Visit Campus

Two students from China visited the San Jose State campus yesterday, observing the teaching of health on the primary, secondary and college levels. The pair were Kwok Bing Choy and Mrs. Wen Hui Sun.

Through the cooperation of several agencies in the community, they visited various schools and talked with teachers, nurses and doctors of those schools.

Choy, from Hong Kong, is a student at the University of California under the auspices of the World Health Organization and the Public Health Service. He is the inspector of schools in the education department of Hong Kong.

Choy received his AB from the University of Hong Kong and did further studies at the University of Bristol in England.

Mrs. Sun, of Taipei, Formosa, also is at the University of California studying health education. She is a teacher in her native country, and is in the United States for one year under the auspices of the International Cooperation Administration and the United States Public Health Service.

The two students were honored at a tea on campus yesterday at 3:30 p.m.

Students Evaluate Senior Briefing, Speakers, Speeches

Seniors attending Senior Briefing sessions got a chance to speak their minds last week when they completed evaluations sheets.

Questions appearing on the form asked seniors whether or not they liked the theme of the speeches, the speakers and the briefing.

First question, "Was this year's speaker theme helpful?" drew 196 answers of yes, 85 no's.

Speakers picked by the seniors as tops were Dr. Dorothy Kaucher, Dr. Arturo B. Fallico, and Rabbi Joseph Gitin.

As to whether or not briefing should be required, 203 seniors said no, while 95 said yes. 146 seniors said briefing should not be held every week, 128 said it should be held every week.

One hundred and twenty seven voted in favor of holding it every other week with 59 voting against this measure.

Senior Briefing should be offered to January graduates, according to 209 seniors, while 81 said that it should not.

Do you think the program was worth your while? Yes, said 134 seniors; no, said 93 seniors. 170 seniors said the one-half unit credit given for the course appealed to them while 131 said it did not.

Engineers Elect Planning Group For Open House

Members of the Campus Engineering Society met last week and elected a planning committee whose job will be to organize and make extensive plans for next year's open house program. The program will be in conjunction with the Department's tenth anniversary and the school's centennial observance beginning in January, 1957.

Those elected to serve on the committee are Bill Lawson, student chairman; Jack Winchell, electronics; Jon Anderson, construction; Dick Huston, production and chemical processing; Norm Feldheim, publicity; and Dan Weatherly, dance arrangements. Dr. William Lorell is faculty adviser.

Main objectives of the open house will be to interest high school students in engineering and to demonstrate the type of training given at SJS, according to Lawson.

Exhibits of modern engineering equipment and samples of students' finished projects will be shown, he said.

"This promises to be our finest open house. We are trying for something just a little special this time to go with the double significance of the occasion," he continued.

Sophs To Hold Holiday Meet

Sophomores will meet informally at Adobe Creek Park all-day tomorrow as was done last year, according to Ted Terzakis.

A group of cars will leave the Student Union at 10 a.m. It is not a planned affair, but it gives the Soph a chance to get together informally, and have recreation and lunch on a more relaxed basis than most of their functions, according to Terzakis.

The class did not meet yesterday, and will not officially meet again until fall.

Terzakis resigned the presidency to vice president Jeannie Oakleaf at the class' last meeting, due to his recent election to the vice presidency of the Rally Committee. This is in accordance with ASB law forbidding one person's holding two student government offices.

NO VOTING ON DUES
The last meeting of the Centennial Junior Class was held yesterday, but due to a lack of attendance, no voting was held for Senior Dues.

It was announced that the treasury contains about $60. Tom Bonetti, the class president, said that he would like to have the Senior dues raised by $2. During first or second meeting of next semester, voting will be held to determine whether this will go into effect.

Since the class has used its allotted sum from the Student Council, it cannot appeal for money, therefore, all money to be spent for the Senior Ball, Week Day and Banquet will come out of the dues and any other money that the class can make.

The members of the class council will look into the records of the present Senior Class to see where the most money is needed, and possibly to eliminate any unnecessary expenses.

Bonetti also said that he wanted more varied and better activities for next year's Senior Class. "This includes looking for a new place to hold the Senior Ball and a top notch band for this affair," he said.

Department Elects 10 Alpha Al Sirat Honor Contenders

Five men and five women senior business graduates have been selected, and two of the 10 will receive the Alpha Al Sirat Award as the students most likely to succeed in the field of business according to Dr. John Aberle, associate professor of business.

These students are June M. Bufano, Crista B. Jones, Dolores B. Mathias, Eleanor L. Rice, Patricia V. Wickstrom, LaVerne E. Draper, Donald G. Hubbard, Gayle W. Jones, William P. Klusman and John W. Strahl.

The following methods is used to select the two award-winning students:

(1) All senior graduates who have a 3.0 grade point average automatically make the list. Faculty members may add other students who show other qualities than the grade qualification necessitates.

(2) The business faculty pick five men and five women from the list. (This is the point which has been reached in this year's selection.)

(3) The graduating seniors in the Business Department vote on the 10, and narrow the list to three boys and three girls.

(4) A panel of downtown businessmen make the final choice of one boy and a girl.

The awards are presented at the Commercial Club's annual dinner, which will be held next week at a downtown hotel.

Yearbook Sales To End

Today is the last day La Torre can be ordered at its sales booth, which is located in the Outer Quad, according to Dr. Leonard Hippchen, La Torre adviser. Students who have paid the $4 down payment for the yearbook also are reminded that they must pay the final $2 to complete payment of the $6 total cost of La Torre before the yearbook's distribution date, June 1. Orders also are being taken in the Student Activities Office.

ennial Junior Class was held yesterday, but due to a lack of attendance, no voting was held for Senior Dues.

It was announced that the treasury contains about $60. Tom Bonetti, the class president, said that he would like to have the Senior dues raised by $2. During first or second meeting of next semester, voting will be held to determine whether this will go into effect.

Since the class has used its allotted sum from the Student Council, it cannot appeal for money, therefore, all money to be spent for the Senior Ball, Week Day and Banquet will come out of the dues and any other money that the class can make.

The members of the class council will look into the records of the present Senior Class to see where the most money is needed, and possibly to eliminate any unnecessary expenses.

Bonetti also said that he wanted more varied and better activities for next year's Senior Class. "This includes looking for a new place to hold the Senior Ball and a top notch band for this affair," he said.

CHAIRMAN MEET

Chairmen of the Senior Class Council committees met yesterday afternoon in SD 126 to discuss preparations for the Senior Banquet and Family Day.

Both events take place June 7 with Family Day beginning at 1 p.m. and ending at 5 p.m.

Senior Banquet gets underway at 7:15 p.m. Henry Bonner McDaniel will be the guest speaker at the banquet with Don Abinante, class president, as master-of-ceremonies.

Senior breakfast begins at 10 p.m. on Friday, June 8. Seniors will attend Baccalaureate exercises June 3 at 4 p.m. and Commencement exercises June 8, also at 4 p.m. Both events will take place in the Spartan Stadium.

Guest Speaker for the commencement exercises is James Mussatti, general manager of the California State Chamber of Commerce. Rev. John T. Foudy, Ph.D. will speak at the Baccalaureate services.

FINAL FROSH MEETING

The Freshman Class met for the final time as freshmen students yesterday afternoon in the Education Lecture Hall, Room 55, when Bruce Carter entertained the group by playing the piano, according to Bill Sturgeon, class president.

After several announcements, the official meeting ended and Carter performed.

The announcements included the dates scheduled for three of the class' projects for next fall.

Sturgeon stated that know cones will begin on September 24, the car wash on September 29, and the Frosh-Soph Mixer would take place on October 5.

Revelries Applications

Applications for musical director and business manager for next year's '57 Revelries production are being taken in the office of Ted Balgooyen, Room 112 of the Speech and Drama Building. All persons interested are to submit their names as soon as possible, according to Balgooyen.

Ike Signs 'Second Chance' Farm Bill; Senate In Battle Over Super Highway

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower yesterday signed the "second chance" farm bill which sets up his multi-billion dollar soil bank.

The President said he was disappointed by the measure's "shortcomings" in failing to permit advance benefit payments to farmers this year.

The new law is sharply different from the original price-boosting bill which Mr. Eisenhower vetoed on grounds it would have scuttled the administration's flexible farm program.

HIGHWAY BILL DEBATE

WASHINGTON — The Senate opened debate on its super highway bill yesterday and ran head-on into a fight over how to parcel out $25 billion in federal funds to the states.

The vast road-building program—first of its kind—would call for construction of a 40,000-mile network of state highways to link up 42 state capitals and most larger cities across the nation.

Under the Senate bill, the federal government would put up $25 billion of the cost of the interstate network with the state splitting up the other $25 billion. Existing taxes on gasoline, tires, buses, trucks and trailers would be hiked to help pay the bill.

LOCAL SCOUT LOST

SAN JOSE — Three Coast Guard helicopters participated in a search yesterday of Alum Rock Park for 12-year-old Gloria Calderon, a Sunnyvale girl scout reported missing since Sunday afternoon.

Two airplanes, one from San Jose and the other from the Civil Air Patrol, flew over the area this morning but reported no signs of the missing child. Thirty San Jose Police Officers, who volunteered their services, hunted the area until 2 o'clock Monday morning, also without success.

ASSISTANT NOMINATED

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower yesterday nominated Fred A. Seaton, his deputy assistant, as the new Secretary of Interior.

Seaton, former Nebraska senator and midwest publisher, was named to succeed Douglas McKay who resigned on April 15 to run for senator in Oregon.

Fall Student Teachers

To Receive Assignments

Students who expect to be placed as student teachers in secondary schools in the fall semester will be given their assignments today at 3:30 p.m. in the Engineering Lecture Hall (E118).

"It is important that all prospective student teachers for the fall semester attend this meeting," Dr. G. W. Ford, coordinator of student teaching, announced yesterday.

A Look At The Future

As we approach the end of this school term, big plans are in the making for the centennial year at SJS. San Jose State College will begin its celebration of a century of educational achievement with the start of the fall semester, 1956. The observance will continue through June, 1957, with activities concentrated in the period May 2-11.

With the theme "Pioneers for 100 Years," the celebration will feature an array of activities. The The Homecoming Game against Denver University on November 3 will be the kick-off event. "A Century of Spartan Sports" will be the theme for the parade and game.

Spring festivities are scheduled to begin May 2, Founders' Day, with the President's Convocation. Other featured events throughout the celebration will be luncheons, plays, musical productions, a recognition dinner, barbecue, an open house, exhibits and the Centennial Ball, which will conclude activities May 11.

Actually, the college will be celebrating the 100th anniversary of the founding of Minns' Evening Normal School of San Francisco, which in 1862, merged with the newly-created State Normal School.

San Jose State has experienced a great year, and next year promises to be one of the biggest ever. We may look forward for SJS' progress to continue next year as it has in the past. At the same time we see great plans in the making for one of SJS' biggest events in history—the Centennial Celebration of 1956-57.

'Hospitality'

Dear Thrust and Parry:

To the brothers of Tau Delta Phi: we came to visit you, but found the door locked and barred. There was no welcome mat set out; no smiling face to bid us to enter. This did not deter us, however. We wiggled through the keyhole, climbed the stairs, and made ourselves at home. We added a few feminine touches which we thought were needed. And when we left, we took a few souvenirs.

We send our utmost thanks for your hospitality and we sincerely hope we can come again sometime.

The Mystery Girls, ASB-610

Beef on Menu

Dear Thrust and Parry:

The famous Mr. Barnum of Barnum and Bailey once said, "There's a sucker born every minute," and it seems as though the graduating class of 1956 at SJS bears out this statement.

It would seem that the more education people receive, the more they become prey to deception. If the Senior Day, which recently was held at Adobe Creek Lodge, wasn't a deceiving proposition, then I certainly am guilty of holding a wrong opinion.

In all the news written up in the Daily before the affair, I was led to believe that the meal was to be of high caliber, namely prime rib roast, and was to be served in the lodge's supper club. Believe me, any comparison between what we were served and prime rib roast was ridiculous. The tables and benches upon which we ate were atrocious. They were filthy dirty and crawling with insects. The least they could have done, if we had to eat there, was to spray the area before eating, and lay paper on the tables and benches.

What tees me off is this: I estimated at least 1000 people there. At three bucks a head, that's three grand. I also estimated a cost to the lodge of about three or $400, maximum. Unless I am very wrong in my estimation, I'd say that's a handy return on their investment.

I really don't want to belittle the class leaders, but I can't help but feel they made a faux pas in this deal. Despite their honest efforts, they and we graduating seniors grabbed the wrong bag.

Now the reason I wrote this letter was to let off a little steam in an accepted manner, and to warn the Class of '57 that they should be very wary of their choice of places to hold their senior functions.

Sincerely,
Quintin V. Barbieri

Sable Plays Important Role in This Girl's Life

By SAM HAWKINS

The flash from a photographer's camera once turned the freight rooms of a large Chicago air terminal into a game of hide and seek. The year was 1950. The seekers were members of the "Chicago Tribune" staff. The seekee was a little animal that could be part of a fur coat. The cause of it all was one Kilulu Von Prince, currently a sophomore at San Jose State College.

The marten, an expensive little animal that provides the fur for garments that carry the label that reads sable, and Miss Von Prince, stately, young and pretty, were to be featured in a story in the "Chicago Tribune." In 1950 martens were new to this country. Miss Von Prince also was a stranger in the United States.

Presently a co-ed at San Jose State majoring in occupational therapy, Miss Von Prince has been bandied about the world as the victim of three wars. She lives at 329 S. 8th St. with her mother, whom she sponsored as an immigrant to this country.

Kilulu was born and raised in Tanganyika, East Africa, until World War II split the world into two separate camps. At that time her family was expelled from Africa because they were German citizens, and Germany lost Tanganyika as a result of World War I.

From Africa the family went to Germany and then to Poland. From Poland they fled before the invasion forces of the Soviet Union near the close of the war. At each move the family lost all but life.

When the war was at an end and Germany beaten and occupied by the Allied Armies, German citizens were restricted to Germany. The people of that country were limited to the area inside Germany's borders, and the borders were well-marked with barbed wire and mine fields. Constructing the battered cities of Germany didn't seem to have much future in the eyes of young Miss Von Prince. She decided to learn fur breeding. Switzerland offered the best training then available in that field of endeavor.

Kilulu Von Prince wasn't to be stopped by a mile of barbed wire and Allied patrols. Crawling on her hands and knees, and on her stomach, she crossed the border into Switzerland. The Swiss government was happy to have her in the country and she learned fur breeding.

Shortly after completing her study of fur breeding in the land of the Alps, Kilulu decided that the United States offered a lot of opportunity to young fur breeders.

A letter to an American fur breeders' association brought an offer of sponsorship from a German fur breeder then in this country.

The laws concerning immigration at that time said in effect that for a person to be a sponsor, they had to know the person to be sponsored, personally. The fur breeder who sponsored Kilulu knew only that she was a German girl who wanted to come to the United States.

She arrived in the United States at an air terminal in Chicago without enough money to pay a fee that is charged immigrants. She had 12 cents in her purse when she landed. A benevolent immigration official supplied the funds she needed, and she was admitted. She doesn't know the name of this man, but he has her undying thanks.

The fur breeder that sponsored her provided her with about 24 pairs of martens to study and with which to work.

The "Chicago Tribune" did a feature story on martens and Miss Von Prince in 1950. The photographer's flash bulbs scared the elusive weasel-like marten she was holding for a picture, and a game of happy hide and seek followed.

After working with martens for three years, she decided to go on to school and study genetics and zoology. Unfortunately at the time, she was confronted with the problem of insufficient funds.

A poster, advertising the advantages of a career in the Women's Army Corps caught her eye one day. A particular line on the poster that mentioned the Korean GI Bill attracted her attention. She enlisted.

She wanted to be assigned to Germany. This meant an extra year in the WAC's but she took it. In Germany she was now part of the Army she evaded on her way to Switzerland several years before. She also was in the same country where her mother lived. When she arrived back in the United States after 30 months in Germany, Kilulu sponsored her mother as an immigrant to the United States. Kilulu had won her citizenship while in the service, and as a citizen, was a qualified sponsor.

Kilulu thinks San Jose State is a "great" school. Her only criticism of the school or its students is that the school offers too many courses that are not essential to learning a given field. Those are the general education requirements.

"The kids on campus all are friendly and easy to get along with. Everyone is very helpful. Of course I guess this has a lot to do with my attitude toward these people," she said.

Knight Proclaims June Olympic Team Month

SACRAMENTO—(UP)—Gov. Goodwin J. Knight yesterday proclaimed June as "United States Olympic Team Month" in California because "It is vitally important that our nation be fully and ably represented in the Olympics."

"I urge my fellow Californians to do everything possible to give practical, vigorous support toward sending the finest available aggregation of American athletes to participate in these contests," Knight said.

Dr. Swanson Stresses Value of Medical Technicians; Demand Increases Yearly

By JIM KALLENBACH

The field of medical technology has become one of the most advanced and under staffed areas of scientific study and research in recent years.

Improvements in laboratory procedure and discoveries in medical science have been the main cause of this need. Pay rates and promotion possibilities have increased tremendously for skilled lab technicians.

DEMAND NEVER GREATER

The demand for these laboratory technicians never was greater; however, trouble lies ahead. What is the trouble? It is not the demand, but the supply.

The demand goes up each year, and the supply of graduate lab technicians either is static or sadly decreasing, according to Dr. Wilbur H. Swanson, professor of bacteriology.

"In June we will graduate about 20. I receive enough requests and applications to place three or four more times as many graduates as lab apprentices than I possibly can fill," Dr. Swanson said.

OTHERS HAVE TROUBLE

San Jose State is not the only college faced with the dilemma. Universities also are concerned about the lack of supply, according to Dr. Swanson.

There now are 21,000 registered medical technologists. More than 50,000 will be needed by 1960. This figure will not be met, he said.

The clinical technician is responsible for the performance of numerous tests and examinations on biologic materials (usually from human patients), upon which the physician bases his diagnosis, prognosis or decision regarding therapy or surgery.

BLOOD TESTS

In hospitals and private clinical laboratories the technician draws blood from patients and performs tests such as blood counts, hemoglobin determinations, examination for bacteria, serum tests and various other chemical tests.

SJS has a very thorough curriculum for those students wishing to major in medical technology, according to Dr. Swanson.

The student majors in biological sciences for three years and minors in chemistry. In order to receive a B.S. degree, the student takes his fourth year in a hospital as a lab intern. If he does not take the fourth year in a hospital, but continues with classroom work and study, he is granted a B.A.

APPRENTICESHIP

After graduation, the technician serves an apprenticeship of from six months to one year, Dr. Swanson said.

"Most of our graduates are sent to the Santa Clara County Hospital, O'Connor Hospital, Letterman Army Hospital in San Francisco or the Oakland Navy Hospital. There always are jobs waiting for our students," Dr. Swanson continued.

Meetings

Christian Science Organization invites students and faculty to its meeting today at 7:30 p.m. in the College Chapel.

Spartan Spinners will hold its annual barbecue and dance today at 6 p.m. at Alum Rock Park.

Council Handles Golf Problem Nicely

The Student Council, especially President Ray Freeman, is to be congratulated for the way it handled the ticklish problem of raising funds to send the San Jose State golf team to the National Collegiate Championships at Ohio State.

Freeman spent many hours investigating the situation in order to ascertain all the facts. When everything was brought to light, the Council acted in the only logical manner and provided the golfers with $800 for the trip.

We would agree with Freeman that there would have been little trouble had there been proper communications between the Athletic Department (Glenn Hartranft and Wilbur Hubbard) and the Board of Control.

The main reason the Board of Control vetoed the Council's original action was that it did not have the approval of the Athletic Department. Actually, the P.E. heads approved the action of the Council. What they are strongly against is the outside raising of funds, which will not happen now.

We do not agree with Freeman and the athletic heads on one point, however. They condemned the action of members of the golf team in bringing the matter before the Student Council without the approval of the Athletic Department.

From this corner it appears the golf team would have never obtained any money had its members not gone before the Student Council in the first place. The issue would have died without a murmur. It is heartening to see any group able to put its views over to the Student Council without outside assistance.

Stanley Will Shine at Compton

We have heard many unfavorable comments about Lang Stanley's showing at the Modesto Relays in which the Spartan ace was defeated by UCLA's Bob Seaman and Los Angeles State's Mal Whitfield on the anchor leg of the Sprint Medley relay. We believe this criticism is unjustified.

It is impossible for a man to run outstanding clockings every week, and a distance man is bound to have an off day. From this corner it appeared Stanley has had his bad day, and we look for a top performance from the Spartan ace in Friday night's Compton Invitational.

No one can say that Lang did not try his best to give the Spartan team a win after the fine showing of the first three runners Al Ross, Ron Giardina and Ed Hicks. His time of 1:50.2 is outstanding. Instead of blasting Lang, people should congratulate Whitfield and Seaman for running outstanding races. The 1:48.5 time turned in by the former proves he is far from being "over the hill" and the two time Olympic Champion will be tough to beat out of an Olympic berth.

We thought four Spartans performed creditably at Modesto. Al Ross was timed in :48.5 for his opening 440 of the relay, while sprinters Ron Giardina and Ed Hicks gained ground for San Jose in their 220's. O. W. Rhodes showed he may score points in the NCAA meet with his 14 ft. 4 in. pole vault. Only two college vaulters Villanova's Don Bragg and Occidental's Bob Gutowski are consistently over this height.

Once Around the Bases

Out side of JIM LEA's record breaking 440, we thought the performance of Abilene Christian's BOBBY MORROW was the most outstanding feature of the Modesto Relays. Morrow proved he will be tough to beat in the NCAA sprint races. In fact we believe he can revenge an earlier defeat to Duke's DAVE SIME when the two meet again. . . Spartans are listed as holding four State College records. They are WOODY LYNN, 154 feet in the discus, LANG STANLEY :47.9 in the 440 and 1:48.7 in the 880 and BILLY JOE WRIGHT, 54 ft. 9 1/2 in. for the shot put. . . Track and Field News ranks Stanley as the nation's top half-miler. He is the only Spartan ranked in the top 10 of an event. . . One of the greatest fields of half-milers of all time is set for the Friday's Compton Invitational Meet. Included are LON SPURRIER, World Record holder, LANG STANLEY, ROGER MOENS, holder of the World's 800 meter standard, MAL WHITFIELD, Olympic 800 meter champ, ARNIE SOWELL, AAU champion, and TOM COURTNEY, NCAA winner. . . If San Jose can get one or two J.C. sprint stars, rumored as set to come here, the Spartans could have the best collegiate sprint relay team in the World next year.

Spartans Baseballers

By BOB BARKER

In chalking up their finest season's record since 1949, the Spartan baseballers broke nearly every existing hitting record of the school. By its heavy bombing tactics, the Spartan "murderers" finished out play with an 19-10 mark, equaling the previous high that was set in 1949.

Paced by the heavy sticking of Jerry Clifford, Chuck Reynolds, Joe Winstead, Bill Rahming et al, the Spartans more than justified Coach Walt Williams' pre-season prediction of being a potential heavy hitting team that could materialize into the best SJS nine in history. Led by Clifford's .400 mark, the Spartans banged out a thumping .313 average, a new high mark for a Spartan team.

Clifford led the team's assault on the hitting records, setting five new marks and tying with teammate Winstead in chalking up another.

Clifford got new highs in batting average (.400), runs scored (42), Hits (50), total bases (85), two base hits (16), and consecutive games hitting safely (15), tied with Winstead.

Chuck Reynolds set two new marks in the long distance department. He smacked out seven home runs, and drove in 36 runs to get his name into the record books.

Among the 19 victories compiled over the season, perhaps the two biggest and most satisfying to Spartan fans were the dual wins over Stanford, at that time the threat in the powerful CIBA loop. Tuck Halsey was the big hero in both victories over Stanford, tossing a masterful 1-0 shut-out for the initial series victory, and then coming back to pitch the rubber-game win, 4-3. The latter encounter was played in hazardous rain conditions in Palo Alto.

Although an independent, the San Jose horsehiders played nine contests with CIBA teams, coming out on the long end of five of them. The Spartans nipped Stanford twice, and twice thumped Santa Clara. San Jose fell to UCLA, California, USC and Stanford.

Tuck Halsey was the big ace of the San Jose mound staff all season long, compiling a 9-3 mark, while coming through repeatedly in the clutch. Probably his finest effort, was the four-hit whitewashing of Stanford. Bob Borg-hesani (5-2) and Hal Kolstad (3-4) were the other top Spartan chuckers.

Six regulars hit over .300 for the local fence busters, with all the performers taking turns getting hot in the RBI production. Reynolds knocked them in at a fast pace early in the season, and when he trailed off, temporarily, Dick Roza and Jerry Clifford took up the slack. Joe Winstead, Bill Rahming, Don Hodgen and Stan Beasley also collected their share of RBIs.

Full-time performers making the .300 club in addition to Clifford, were Winstead (.370), Reynolds (.337), Kolstad (.333), Halsey (.327) and Rahming (.322).

Reynolds, senior leftfielder, was voted captain and most valuable player by his teammates.

With only four regular performers being graduated, Ed Sobczak new Spartan baseball mentor, will be greeted by a host of veterans when he takes over the coaching reins next spring. Such stalwarts as Clifford, Halsey, Kolstad, Rostomily, Hodgen, Winstead, and Roza all will be back.

Council Grants Golfers Funds

By JOHN SPALDING

In a special session yesterday, the Student Council unanimously voted $800 to the SJS golf team, enabling the golfers to commence making plans for the trip to Columbus, Ohio, for the NCAA tournament.

This move by the Council reaffirmed its initial allocation made during last Wednesday's meeting and nullified the Board of Control's action of last Friday. The Board had vetoed the original $800 grant, because the proposed trip reportedly did not have the support of Athletic Department leaders.

However, during the past weekend some of the confusion—resulting from what Ray Freeman, ASB president described, "poor communication"—was dissolved. Eddie Duino, San Jose Country Club pro, reported he had learned from Wilbur Hubbard that the only problem of the proposed trip was the solicitation of public funds.

Hubbard is reported to have said that the department support was withheld because he did not wish to see teams constantly going to the public for financial aid. Hubbard aptly stated his point of view by saying, "You can't go to the well too often, without eventually finding it dry."

When Duino learned that the proposed fund-raising drive was the main bone of contention, he informed the San Jose golfers. They, in turn, decided to take the $800 and supplement it with their own funds.

This announcement by the Spartan linksmen removed the stigma of the original fund allocation and allowed the Council to reaffirm the position in favor of the trip.

Freeman reported in his remarks to the Council that he had talked with S. Glenn "Tiny" Hartranft who said his only fears were that the Spartans would not be represented by the best State golfers. Hartranft also expressed his opposition to any public subscription, but, according to Freeman, left the final decision up to the Council.

The Council's allocation will allow a six-man team to make the journey to Columbus and Ohio State's Scarlet course where, on June 22, team and individual competition begins.

Spartans Ernie George, Jack Cummings, Glenn Dooley and Charlie Leider are cinches to make the trip. All have been among the top four on Coach Walt McPherson's golf "ladder" throughout the season. Three others—Jim Clark, Eddie Duino Jr., and Bob Henning—will play off for the remaining two spots.

Following three practice rounds on the Buckeye links, four of the six varsity sticklers will be entered as a team against some of the finest collegiate aggregations in the U.S. Toughest opposition is expected to be supplied by defending champion LSU, Oklahoma A. & M. or ever-powerful North Texas State.

Scores registered during the team play will be used to qualify the golfers for the various flights. Top 16 qualifiers will be placed in the Championship flight.

Since the San Jose contingent finished in a tie for fifth in last year's competition, the golfers feel they will be no further back when the smoke clears this season. They are looking for a slight rise, possibly to second or even first. They all agree that several hot rounds and they could walk off with all the marbles.

There can be no doubt that this team is one of the finest to represent San Jose State, a school noted for fine golf squads. Spartan tutor McPherson has called the club, "better than last year," and team members point proudly to their 16-12 mark in match play. It is significant to note that the NCAA individual title is decided by match play.

The only possible blights on the 2000 mile trip are the mode of travel and the Spartans' tourney record.

Travel by car may hurt the chances of all except Leider, who is expected to fly back with members of his family. The long trip may leave the other five with tired muscles and it is a pre-requisite of good golf that a swing must be smooth. A "tight" golfer will not retain his natural swing and the results of an unnatural swing are obvious.

The tourney record of the Spartans is not the best. The club finished a poor fifth in the Northern California Intercollegiate and was edged in the CBA championships. Two losses in as many starts do not recommend the group as good tourney prospects.

Perhaps three will be the charm.

Kramer Tennis Troupe

Tony Trabert, Pancho Gonzales, Pancho Segura and Rex Hartwig will see action Friday in Palo Alto, as Jack Kramer's Tennis troupe appears in the Bay Area.

Friday's action will pair Trabert against Gonzales, while Hartwig will meet Segura in a preliminary match that starts at 8 p.m. at Palo Alto High School.

435 Club Trims Theta Chi, 3-1 To Win 'Mural Crown

Ed (Dutch) Bill personally led his teammates to the intramural softball championship yesterday, as the 435 Club took a close 3-1 decision from Theta Chi at Backesto Park.

Bill pitched a no-hitter over the five-inning route, while striking out 14 of the fraternity batters. The big independent pitcher, not content to rest on his near-perfect pitching laurels, connected for two-run homer in the first inning, enough for the victory.

Dick Zimmerman, ace of the fraternity champ's mound corps, allowed the 435ers only three hits, but two of them were for extra bases. He struck out eight.

The Theta Chi's made their bid in the third inning when they scored their lone tally on a hit batsman, a free pass to Zimmerman and an error by catcher Fred Niemann.

The final score of the game, came in the fourth as the 435ers bunched a double and single.

Bill struck out four fraternity batters in the bottom of the fourth, as one of his victims reached first safely on a passed ball.

Theta Chi entered yesterday's championship encounter by downing Phi Sigma Kappa and Alpha Tau Omega to emerge with the fraternity championship. Zimmerman pitched his mates to both playoff victories.

Through the regular season, Theta Chi and ATO tied for the National Fraternity League flag. Delta Upsilon won the American Fraternity League title but was eliminated in the playoffs by ATO in the first round.

The 435 Club won the Independent League crown by going through the season undefeated in five starts.

Speedway Drivers Qualify for Classic

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — (UP)

—The pressure was on a dozen or so speed demons late yesterday in their race against the weather and the clock as they attempted to crash into the lineup for tomorrow's 500-mile Memorial Day classic.

The speedway set aside 63 minutes of qualifying time for "Bumping." The trials were scheduled to end Monday, but when rain washed out Saturday and most of Monday, the management decided on an extra two-hour period.

Five cars were qualified and one of them eliminated in 57 minutes available to complete the 33-car field, Monday. Twelve other racers, including Nino Farina's Ferrari, remained lined up near the starting apron overnight so they would not lose their turn. However, time may run out before all them get a chance to make the field.

Veteran Cliff Griffith, 40-year old Indianapolis industrialist plan form making a racing comeback, was the fastest qualifier Monday. He averaged 141.471 miles an hour.

Goodwill Industries Donation Campaign Bags Now in Coop

Bags are available in the Coop for use by persons or groups wishing to make donations to Goodwill Industries, a non-profit, non-sectarian organization which helps in the rehabilitation of handicapped persons.

Warren J. Strong, materials procurement officer for the Santa Clara County Goodwill Industries, said the donations give its handicapped workers a means of making a living by repairing and reconditioning the goods.

Strong said that in the past he has found that there are many students who, as they prepare to return home from school, find there is much material they do not wish to take or send home.

He said such things as clothes, furniture, books, utensils, pictures, appliances, radios, rugs, shoes, dishes, clocks, mirrors, jewelry and bedding are acceptable.

Strong related that anyone interested in donating to the organization should get a donation bag in the Coop and call the Goodwill Industries office for free pick-up by its trucks.

Strong said that funds for paying the handicapped people who do the repair work is derived from the sale of the reconditioned goods.
